Art Unit 1711

The finality of the previous Office action is hereby withdrawn.

All rejections follow.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 17, 25, 27 and 92 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Letchford (WO 97/5173).

See the previous Office action at the last complete paragraph on page 2 et seq.

It is noted that instant claim 17 recites "at least two protected functionalized chain extended anionic polymerization initiators". Since the chain extended initiators of Letchford are formed by addition of a diene to an alkyl initiator, those skilled in the art would realize that the reaction product would contain a mixture of chain extended initiators having variable amounts of diene reacted therein.

Applicants' arguments filed 12-30-02 have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

Art Unit 1711

Applicants allege that claim 21 has been incorporated into claim 17 and therefore claim 17 should be allowable. This is incorrect since claim 21 contained the limitation of "one or more non-chain extended compounds" while claim 17 as amended does not recite anything regarding a non-chain extended compound. It was assumed when claim 21 was indicated allowable in the previous Office action that applicant intended that more than one non-chain extended compound be present but upon further consideration, claim 21 appears to have been unclear given that claim 21 was dependent on claim 20 which was cancelled.

This Office action is being made NON-FINAL.
